Persistence to the Second Semester
Vol. 16, No. 2

This report provides views on persistence to the second semester for the incoming full-time, beginner (FTB) cohorts of 2004, 2005, and 2006. In summary, the overall beginner and transfer retention rate for the 2006 cohort realized a slight gain over the 2004 and 2005 cohort rates. After a decline from the 2004 to 2005 cohorts, the FTB rate increased slightly to $89.9 \%$, which is close to the 2004 cohort rate. Students pursuing bachelor's degrees also rebounded by achieving a gain of .7 percentage points above last year's rate. African American FTB rate increased slightly over the 2005 cohort rates to $84.0 \%$ which is two percentage points off the 2004 cohort rate. The Hispanic rates remained relatively stable with that of the 2005 cohort..

The proportion of FTB students achieving a first semester GPA of 2.0 or less decreased this year after increasing the past two years. In 2004 that proportion was $20.2 \%$, in 2005-22.4\%, and with the 2006 cohort that group comprised $20.4 \%$ of the FTB cohort. At the university wide level, the retention rate for these low-performing students (GPA in the 1st semester) declined slightly. There are some exceptions to this trend at Bloomington, IUPUI, Fort Wayne, and Southeast.

An appendix is available which provides views on the entire beginner cohorts and part-time beginner cohort subsets. These and other reports are available via our website at http://www.indiana.edu/~urr.
